The DIMMER VIEW

The Prison Exodus

The public is being handed a mickey in SB 42.

That's the Senate Bill by which determinate sentences will become mandatory on July 1. In simple language, it says there'll not be such things as a 1 to 5 years, or a 2 to 20. Courts, beginning July 1 will have to state the length of time Joe Felon will be ordered to serve. And there's a schedule to guide judges. Its shorter terms favor the lawbreaker. Also, there are loopholes in the schedule by which criminals may be given probation without serving a single day behind bars. And for those who are sent to prison for the same crime, sentences may vary.

But the most frightening part of SB 42 is that it is retroactive and an estimated 7,000 criminals who will have served their re-computed sentences, will be turned loose on California communities.

So dangerous is the concept of this bill that police and judges alike are asking the public to join in demanding that the Legislature amend the bill to correct some of the defects.

Former San Diego Police Chief Ray Hoobler and Jan Gleason, board member of National Organization for Women, surfaced as co-chairmen of a steering committee whose aim is getting SB 42 modified.

Superior Court Judges Ross G. Tharp and Douglas R. Woodworth sponsored a meeting last week at which the steering committee was chosen.

Tharp said State Sen. John Stull intends to introduce legislation to delay the effective date of the determinate sentence bill until December 31, 1978 to allow the Legislature to remedy the ailing bill.

The steering committee, according to Tharp, will encourage citizen involvement in an initiative petition drive if Legislature does not correct the apparent defects.

"The citizens' review board will have only 90 days to review sentences of 20,000 inmates under the bill," Tharp said. "Something must be done before an estimated 7,000 criminals are turned loose on the streets in July," he added.

State Sen. Bill Richardson warns that the July 1 date is one of catastrophic potential.

He notes that whenever a vicious criminal escapes from prison, citizens for miles around take special precautions to lock their doors and windows. Few venture out into the night or walk alone until the escapee is again caught and jailed. "Visualize," he says, "the scene of thousands of inmates of our state prisons simultaneously escaping. And that an overwhelming majority of them are repeat offenders with numerous convictions for crimes such as kidnapping, murder and rape. And a disproportionately large number classified as dangerously homicidal."

"How would your community react to the news that within a matter of hours dozens of hardcore criminals would be stalking the streets of your community?"

That is certainly thought-provoking. And some of the 7,000 who will be sprung from prison will undoubtedly surface in the east county.

Statistically, we know that more than two-thirds of those released will be back in prison — but not until many of them have robbed, beaten, murdered, raped or stabbed other victims.

In addition to making it possible for a convicted criminal never serving a day in jail, SB 42 will reduce the actual time the average criminal will spend behind bars, Sen Richardson says.

Here is the schedule:

The maximum sentence for assaulting a peace officer, attempted robbery, grand theft and many other "minor" felonies is three years.

For "major" felonies such as arson, perjury, sodomy, robbery, or voluntary manslaughter, the criminal will spend two, three or four years in prison. Or they may only receive probation, a fine or a short jail term in county jail, according to Richardson.

Heroin peddlers will get three, four or five years at the very most while forcible rape has a maximum of five years.

If these guys do not attempt to escape or do not assault a correctional officer, he gets one-third of the time off. "Good time" they call it.

The surprisingly modest sentence is not the most shocking part of the bill. It is the "retroactive" element which will open the jail doors for the 7,000 criminals noted above. SB 42 says that any inmate who has already served more time than the schedule for his crime indicates, will be automatically released from prison.

To add to the jubilation of today's criminals, the State Supreme Court Tuesday struck down the death penalty concept recently approved by Legislature. 67 inmates are in Death Row.

Richardson further notes that present law does not permit parole to the dangerously violent and psychotically homicidal. However, this group will make up about a third of the total to be released July 1. One member of the Adult Authority, says Richardson, claims there are as many as 2,000 of these criminals among the 7,000 SB 42 will release.

This material is offered to urge each reader to write his state legislator demanding that the bill be corrected for the safety of our person and property.

You may write State Senators Jim Mills, John Stull or Bill Richardson about this matter. Also write Assemblymen Peter Chacon, or Wadie Deddeh.

Address your communication to them at State Capitol bldg., Sacramento, CA 95814.

Holiday Bazaar Here Saturday and Sunday

Effective Problem Intervention Center, Inc. (EPIC) is sponsoring a Holiday Bazaar on Friday, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Mayfair parking lot on Broadway near Buena Vista in Lemon Grove.

The Bazaar will feature old-fashioned quality merchandise, plants, handiwork, pottery, cut flowers, homemade baked goods and spicy apple cider.

For the children, there will be games, books, and clothing. On Saturday, there will be a special treat — EPIC's clown will entertain children of all ages.

The bazaar is to raise funds for EPIC so that it can continue to provide services to Lemon Grove and surrounding communities. EPIC is a nonprofit agency providing a 24-hour hotline and counseling services to all ages and is staffed mostly by trained volunteers.

Those who would donate time or saleable items should call 462-EPIC. Donated goods can be picked up.

LG City Election Date Set

Lemon Grove will try again to become a city next year.

That became certain Tuesday when the County Board of Supervisors approved a March 8 election date for City of Lemon Grove incorporation.

Supervisors approved Citizens for Incorporation of Lemon Grove and County staff recommendations for a city manager form of government.

The city manager would be hired to professionally manage city affairs. He would answer to city council, elected at large by Lemon Grove voters.

Councilmen Nominations

Those who wish to serve on the council must be one of five successful candidates at election time. Candidates must live within the proposed city limits in order to acquire nomination papers from the office of the Registrar of Voters. Such forms must be obtained, in person. They will not be mailed.

The office is at the county complex at 5555 Mildred st., Kearny Mesa. Candidates must obtain 20 names on their nomination papers. Papers are available now but the deadline is December 30.

There is no charge for nominating papers.

Tax Max. is 75c

Charlotte Langley, executive assistant for the County's office of Intergovernment Affairs (OIA), said earlier that the city probably would be operated on a "definitely lower tax rate than 75 cent maximum set by the County Board of Supervisors."

A reduction in tax load will be enjoyed by property owners of the new city because the Fire Protection District operates on a rate of 86.8 cents which will be saved and be paid out of the 75 cents-or-less tax rate. That alone would reduce local taxes by 11.8 cents. Langley said the tax rate would probably be 70 cents.

According to OIA figures the city is expected to generate $1.45 million during its first fiscal year.

That figure excludes property tax which cannot be locally levied during the city's first year.

The bulk of first year revenue will come from sale & use, franchise, business license and real property transfer taxes — $766,500. Another $35,900 is expected from planning fees and construction permits.

Revenue from other agencies (alcoholic beverage license fees, gasoline tax, cigarette tax, etc) is estimated at $456,968 by the State Board of Equalization.

Operating Costs

It will cost $1,196,400 to run the city the first year, leaving a surplus of $225,468, despite the absence of property tax revenue.

The county will help the city start off in the black by picking up the tab for public works maintenance, civil defense and all but $30,000 in police protection during fiscal 1977-78 — a savings of $735,100.

Property tax is expected to generate $447,307 during the second fiscal year (1978-79) and $526,647 in 1979-80. Both estimates were based on a 70-cent tax rate.

Second year revenues are expected to total $2.2 million, enough for a $102,468 surplus. During 1979-80 it will cost $2.19 million to run the city. Revenues at the 70-cent tax rate are expected to exactly meet those expenses.

Using the City of San Marcos as an example (population 10,400) Langley said councilmen there draw $75 a month and the mayor, selected from among the five councilmen, gets $150.

The city's regular expenses (first year estimates) include general government—$375,500; fire protection—$565,000; police (Sheriff's Department) $30,000; building regulation—$25,000; public works administration and engineering—$50,000; recreation and cultural affairs—$25,000 and capital improvements—$125,000.

Population Guesses

The proposed city has a population of between 18,692 and 23,000. An estimate of population in all of the areas of San Diego County developed by the Integrated Planning Office listed Lemon Grove with 23,000.

Other incorporated communities, for comparison, are Carlsbad—20,000; Del Mar—4,900; Vista—29,100; National City—44,900; La Mesa—43,100 and Coronado—20,100.

The city will cover 3.75 square miles surrounded by La Mesa on the north; San Diego on the west and south, and Sweetwater rd. on the east.

Incorporation was tried three times previously: in 1955, 1958 and 1968. Each of the attempts were sponsored by local citizens.

In the 1977 attempt, the sponsoring body (called lead agency) is the County of San Diego. All studies were prepared by county staff. County supervisors have said that county will continue to reduce services while charging more for the services it provides. Supervisor Brown urged incorporation as a partial solution to the service problem.

Spring Valley Man Convicted In $2 Million Heroin Case

A federal jury convicted a Spring Valley man on a heroin and firearm charge in U.S. District Court Tuesday.

The man, 40-year old Raymond Moreno of 12175 Highway 94, will be sentenced January 17.

He was convicted of conspiracy, possession of intent to distribute more than 13 pounds heroin, distributing 1½ pounds of heroin; and unlawful possession of a firearm in the commission of a felony.

He was acquitted of another charge involving the sale of an ounce of heroin.

Moreno was one of six persons indicted in a September roundup that netted 13.2 pounds of heroin, $191,000 in cash and assorted weapons and stolen property. Much of the contraband and cash was found in the Spring Valley house. In all, $2 million in heroin was said to be involved in the conspiracy.

Moreno's wife Jody, 26, also indicted, faces related charges. Four others have pleaded guilty of conspiracy charges and will be sentenced January 10.

Moreno was arrested at a Lemon Grove shopping center in September where he was to sell undercover agents of the Drug Enforcement Administration heroin.

Mail Thief Sought

Sheriff's deputies turned over to a postal inspector the complaint of Cindy Kay Burt of 919 Grand ave., Spring Valley, who reported that $92 in food stamps was taken from an envelope in her mailbox of the apartment complex in which she lives.

The mailbox lock had been broken earlier and not repaired, she reported.

... And Fireworks, too

S.V. Bicentennial Weekend Offers 3 Days of Activities

An estimated 15,000 Spring Valley residents are expected to take part or view that community's Bicentennial Weekend Friday, Saturday and Sunday, according to Willie Williams, S.V. Park & Rec. Dist. supervisor.

With the exception of a basketball game, all of the events during the 3-day program are free of charge. The program climaxes comes Saturday at 9:15 when a fireworks display will be fired off. It is estimated that as many as 10,000 residents will view that.

Funds for the week-end come from donations and from a slush fund the district had from a cooked foods sale this spring.

The program:

Planning Group Opposes Urban Development in Semi-Rural SV

The Valle de Oro Planning Commission has gone on record opposing a proposed development planned in the vicinity of Helix st. and Montemar dr. in the hills of Spring Valley.

Last month, the group expressed its opposition to the plan, Helix Summit, in a letter to the County Planning Commission which approved it November 19, despite the fact that more than 90 residents of the surrounding Dictionary Hill area signed petitions requesting reevaluation of its potential environmental impact.

VdOPA told Planning Commission officials that the development is inconsistent with other nearby residences.

Although zoning on the 4.7 acres is R-1, the proposed 14 lots would be inconsistent with the density of the neighboring residences, it was said.

Citing several objectives of the recently completed Valle de Oro Community Plan, VdOPA expressed disapproval with the "modern tract-type urban residential cluster" of homes planned.

The Assn. said in the letter that "gutters, sidewalks, street lights and other urban paraphernalia are not consistent with the area or the wording of the Valle de Oro Community Plan which calls for maintaining a semi-rural atmosphere in Spring Valley.

Policy 27.1 of the Plan calls for a limit to the construction of such items "in keeping with surrounding character and a public safety requirements."

There are no street lights or sidewalks in the hilly Helix st. area.

VdOPA requested the Planning Commission return the proposal to the Environmental Review Division for reanalysis of its environmental impact.

It further suggested that some reduction in the density of dwelling units per acre be considered. Rather than R-1 zoning (one dwelling per acre), the Planning Assn. would prefer a rural density, defined in the Community Plan as density of less than two dwellings per acre.

Penalty Starts Friday Night

Property Taxpayer's Noose Grows Tighter

Friday is PT Day.

That's the day when property tax must either be in the hands of the tax collector—or on its way by mail.

James E. Jones, County Tax Collector, says the payment for the first half of the 1976-77 obligation must be in his office by 5 p.m. December 10, if delivered in person.

If mailed, the postmark must show the December 10 date or the penalty will be added.

The penalty? That's six per cent. And you pay it if you are late by minutes or by months.

Unfortunately, Jones can't take excuses. If you are late you pay. Even the excuse that no tax bill was received is not valid. If you didn't get one you may get another — but the six per cent is added if the payment is late.

And if the property owner is just now learning about it, there's little chance he can get his bill and make his payment in time to avoid the penalty.

CB Burglar Strikes

A thief slipped the window of the locked '75 Chevy van parked at the residence of Russell George Mear, 1892 Primera st., Lemon Grove on December 1 to get to his CB radio, tool box and tools, and a SCM calculator.

He told sheriff's deputies that his loss was $765.

Tire Stabbing Victim

A tire slasher crept up on Fred Marvin Bunge's 1971 Ford during the night of December 1 and stabbed two of the car's tires, he told sheriff's deputies. The stabbing occurred at his residence at 1742 Denston in Spring Valley.

He estimated that replacement costs would be approximately $100.

If you want to chat about your bill call 236-3121.

As if that isn't enough to worry about, the second half of the bill becomes due April 10.

'Flivver' Winner To Be Announced On December 18

There's but a single week left to get in the running for the 1911 model Ford "Flivver" seen about town during the past several weeks.

Other prizes will be a bottle of cheer from Lemon Grove V.F.W. Post 2082; a Charger football autographed by one of the grid stars, and two tickets to a Mariners WHA Hockey game.

The car has a 3½ hp engine which drives the vehicle at 25 mph. The Ford is heavy on brass. It's on the radiator, windshield, headlights and hubcaps. Its dimensions are 34" by 72" with a 50" wheelbase. Its value is said to be $1,000.

Proceeds from this contest goes into the Old Time Days project which is sponsored each year by the L.G. CoC.

The car will be in various places during the coming week. It will be on Broadway at the Broadway Hardware for several days and at the L.G. BoA on Friday.

The contest will end at the L.G. Fire Station at 7 p.m. Friday December 18 and the award of the Ford will be made then and there.

Meanwhile, contest tickets are available from most business firms along Broadway as well as some on Imperial. Precise locations can be obtained by calling the L.G. Chamber of Commerce at 469-0621 or this newspaper at 469-0101.

Householders Must Provide Workers' Comp For Babysitters

The young teenager who does your baby-sitting or the shy little lady who does a small bit of cleaning for you once in a while may become your adversary in a court of law next year.

Either you take out insurance to cover injuries the claimant claims were induced while in your employment or pay the claims out of your pocket.

Failing that, it's into the ol' courthouse.

Here's why:

Starting January 1 these employees and casual workers are covered by the California workers' compensation law.

The financial responsibility to provide protection for workers injured on the job lies squarely on the shoulders of household employers, according to the California Committee on Household Workers' Compensation

90-Voice Choir in Holiday Concert

Grossmont College's annual "Festival of Christmas" will be presented at 4 p.m., Sunday, in the Student Center.

The 90-voice Concert Choir and 28 singers of the Chamber Chorale will be directed by David L. Glismann. A brass choir under Charles MacLeod will also be featured.

The concert will open with "Hallelujah Amen." The women's choir will present the entire "Ceremony of Carols." The Chamber Chorale will present smaller works from the Renaissance to the present.

The public is invited. A donation of $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and senior citizens with a $2 family maximum. Proceeds will be for music major scholarships.

'Messiah' in La Jolla

An 80-voice choir featuring four soloists and backed by orchestra and harpsichord will perform the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" at 7:30 p.m. December 12 at the La Jolla Presbyterian Church, 7715 Draper ave., La Jolla. The renowned composition is one in a series of Sacred Music Concerts sponsored by the church.

Roy G. Denlinger

Services were held Saturday for Roy G. Denlinger, 86, a former rancher, of 2312 Lawton dr., Lemon Grove. He died Tuesday in a hospital.

He came to San Diego 74 years ago from Hartfield, Kansas and attended Lemon Grove Elementary School and was graduated from San Diego High school in 1910.

He operated a dairy and raised chickens for many years in Lakeside.

He is survived by his wife, Minne; 4 daughters; a sister; 13 grandchildren and 6 great-grandchildren.

Annette Gonzales

Services and burial were Tuesday at Greenwood Mortuary Chapel and Memorial Park for Annette M. Gonzales, 19, of 140 Lakeview ave., Spring Valley.

Miss Gonzales, an invalid since birth, died Friday in a hospital. She was a native of San Diego.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gonzales, of Spring Valley; two brothers, Martin and Anthony, both of San Diego; five sisters, including Mrs. Christina Carrillo, Mrs. Henrietta Raymond and Mrs. Theresa West, all of National City, and Barbara Gonzales of Spring Valley; and her maternal and paternal grandparents.

Seniors to Share Yule

Lunch, Fond Memories

A time of sharing food and memories is planned for December 16 by the Vista La Mesa Senior Citizens group.

Members will hold their monthly pot luck at 11 a.m. at the church, 4210 Massachusetts.

Each will bring a gift (about $1 in value) and an article telling about their most unforgettable Christmas.

Marge Dietrich and Pauline Carnell will lead Christmas songs while Rosalia Brennan, from the "College of the Emery," will speak on "Writing Your Own" Autobiography."

The public is welcome.

Carols on Church Schedule

An all-church work day is scheduled for Saturday at the Vista La Mesa Christian church, 4210 Massachusetts ave starting at 8 a.m.

Luncheon will be served.

On December 19, a caroling party starts from the church at 6:30 p.m. All who wish to sing are welcome to join in.

Betty Pengelley To Seek High School Board Post

Betty Pengelley of Spring Valley announced this week that she will run for School Board in the Grossmont Union High School District election to be held March 8. A committee to support her is now forming and will become active soon after December 9, the opening date for filing for election.

Pengelley has been involved in Grossmont District affairs, including service as Chair of the District Goals Committee, to which was appointed in 1973. The purpose of the committee is to identify the educational priorities of the community. Her personal top priority at this time she says, is to improve educational opportunities in the Grossmont District. This must be done through a cost-effectiveness

'Star of Bethlehem' At Space Theatre

The return of "The Star of Bethlehem" starting this Friday has been announced by the Reuben H. Fleet Space Theatre.

This Space Theatre program has become a San Diego Christmas tradition seen by thousands.

"The Star of Bethlehem" is a multi-media exploration of several sky phenomena which might have been interpreted as the start which guided the Wise Men on the first Christmas Eve.

Since the Space Theater's computerized equipment is able to project the stars and planets as they appeared on any date in the past, audiences will see a re-creation of the heavens as they were seen almost 2,000 years ago.

The production shows scenes of the Bethlehem skyline across the 76 foot hemisphere screen. Zoom and slide projectors, three dimensional effects, the starball which projects 10,000 stars, and planet projectors all are used to create the mysterious event in history. Viewers will see and hear how biblical scholars and astronomers have worked together to try to explain "The Star of Bethlehem."

This family show will be offered December 10th through 30th.

Prize Winners To Sing Here

Pat Morse and Kim Bone, members of Skyline Wesleyan Church, are two voices in a quartet which won first place in an international competition recently.

The singers will appear at the the Skyline Wesleyan Church's "Let It Happen" on December 19, 5:30 p.m.

The quartet, which has sung together for two and a half years, includes women from Escondido and Imperial Beach. It was favored overwhelmingly over participants from Canada, England and Germany, a church spokesman said.

In 1977 the quartet will attend competition in London.

Organ Music Booked

Jim Hansen, nationally-known organist will present a special Christmas program on Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Southland Music Center, 3459 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

Hansen, although a local businessman, has in his career concertized throughout the United States and Canada. He has served as Director of Music for Grace Lutheran Church of S.D. and is currently organist for the Bluejacket Choir of the Naval Training Center.

The Saturday program will include all the popular songs of the Christmas season. The audience will sing many of them in the traditional community sing-along. He will also perform excerpts from the Nutcracker Suite. A Laurel & Hardy silent comedy, "Big Business" will have Hansen's musical background.

Part of the program will be Christmas music.

Summer Study Grants Open To Med Students

College students hopeful of spending the summer working closely with well known medical scientists and researchers can apply now for grants to meet their living expenses in a program sponsored by the American Heart Association.

"Each selected student receives a $750 stipend to cover his or her living expenses for ten weeks, beginning shortly after June 1, 1977," said Dr. Lynn A. Criner, chairman of the Summer Student Research Committee of the San Diego County Heart Association.

The local health group will underwrite six students in the statewide program and also designate three $750 awards to local college students who'll assist in research at the San Diego Zoo Hospital, according to Dr. Griner.

To qualify, college students must attend an institution in California or be a resident of the state, must have an interest in research and must have completed course work in biological and physical sciences. Filing deadline is February 1, 1977 and the San Diego County Heart Association can give callers more information on the program.

Students Aid Orphans

Toys and games for Orphans at the Hillcrest Receiving home in San Diego will be collected by Helix High School students through December 20 in a Toys for Orphans Drive. Unused items, possibly wrapped, are also accepted at the school's library.

MONEY FOR EPIC — A fashion show presented recently by women of Soroptimists International of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley, helped the social service outlet EPIC stay presents a check for $1000 to EPIC chairman Ray Heiserman. The Soroptimists made nearly $1500 on the show and plan to put the remainder in its scholarship fund.

Greece, Egypt Art Study Tour At Grossmont College Still Open

A few vacancies still remain for the annual Mid-Winter Study Tour offered by World Encounters Incorporated for Grossmont College Students and members of the community. Participants in the tour will leave December 29 and return January 18, 1977.

The study tour is designed for both students and non-students interested in Egyptian art, Pre-Dynastic to Ptolemaic, with emphasis on the art of the old Kingdom and new Empire.

Departing Los Angeles on December 29, the tour will include five days in Greece where Western Civilization was born. Visits will be made to great classical centers of Athens, Delphi, Corinth and Epidaurus. The earlier Greeks of the Mycenaean era will be examined as well as the Roman and Byzantine remains of later periods.

Ten days in Egypt will be used to probe Egypt's ancient mysteries and modern delights. Participants will see Egypt's influence on the birth of Western Civilization in Greece and Greece's influence through Rome into the Byzantine.

The tour will conclude with a visit to Istanbul and the fabled City of Constantinople.

Ed Dobson, instructor of Art History at Grossmont College, who holds a B.A. degree in Archaeology will serve as tour leader of the 1977 Winter Study Tour offered by World Encounters Incorporated.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Ed Dobson at Grossmont College.

Open House for Skyline Vista Saturday 10-4

Skyline Vista, a 250-bed residential care home, will have its Grand Opening Saturday 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at 2045 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove.

The new million and a half dollar development is adjacent to Skyline Terrace, another residential care home operated by the Miller family of Lemon Grove.

The Millers have operated guest homes in the Lemon Grove area over the past 15 years.

In addition to the ones on Skyline, they operate three other smaller homes in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley.

Entertainment, food and tours are on the agenda Saturday. The program is open to the public.

The concert will feature the combined Jr. High Band and Orchestra, under the direction of Harry Weisgerber. It is sponsored jointly by the Jr. High PTA and the Music Parents Club.

The program is presented to the community in appreciation for support of the music program throughout the year.

Most Tikes Like Bikes, But So Do Thieves!

One of the most cherished gifts a child can receive on Christmas is a bicycle, but it can also cause heartache if stolen, State Attorney General Evelle J. Younger reminds parents.

"Surely the safest way to prevent the theft," he said, "is to purchase a strong lock and encourage the youngsters to always use the lock and to keep the bicycle in garages or some other safe spot when not in use."

He explained that if a bicycle is stolen, the California Department of Justice is available to assist law enforcement in possible recovery through a computerized stolen bicycle recovery system, which recovered 6,145 stolen bicycles between April and September this year.

In order to use the system purchasers must obtain the brand name and serial number of the bicycle, which should be kept in a safe place at home. If the bike is stolen, the brand name and serial number should be furnished to the local law enforcement agency for entry into the system.

An additional safeguard is the obtaining of a license from local authorities—where available. This registration number also proves helpful in recovery.

L.G. Soroptimists Seek Helpful Woman

The Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Soroptimist Club is searching for a local woman who has done the most to help other women.

The club, a professional business women's organization, will be honoring this woman at the "Women Helping Women Awards Breakfast" in February.

The "Women Helping Women" award will be given to a woman who has done the most to help other women either by example or direction in the Lemon Grove or Spring Valley communities. A panel of impartial judges will select the winner.

Nominations may be made by any organization, business firm or individual. The contact is Lois Heiserman at 466-1034.

Turkey Pot Luck Is Holiday Affair for Mesa Jewel Rebekahs

The annual Christmas potluck dinner of the Mesa Jewel Rebekah Lodge 409, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, is set for Wednesday, December 15 at the V.F.W. Hall, 2885 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove.

Turkey is the main course with salad, dessert or vegetable provided by members.

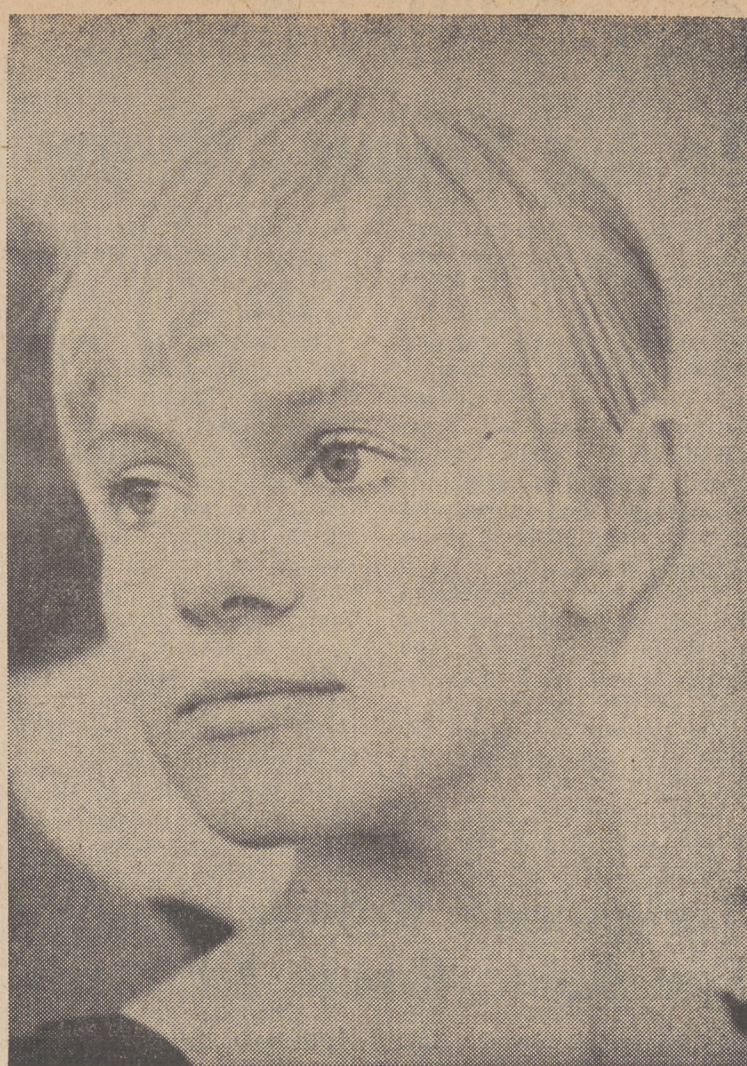

The meeting, which starts at 7:30 p.m., includes a gift exchange and is presided over by Noble Grand Mrs. Fern Korab.

Girl Scouts to Offer 'Living Christmas Tree'

Local Girl Scouts for Aztec and Grove-Mesa Service Units will present their fourth annual "Living Christmas Tree" program of Christmas Carols at 7 p.m. on Monday. The program will be held in the Helix High School Stadium.

The public is invited to attend this Holiday Sing and Service Project. Admission is the donation of one can of food a person. The canned food collected will be distributed to local agencies for the needy.

Those attending are asked to use the Lowell st. entrance.

BALLET — Galina Panov, former star with the Kirov Ballet in Russia, will be guest artist in the S.D. Ballet Co. "Nutcracker" at the Civic Theatre December 26-27. Galina left Russia with her husband Velry Panov when he was granted permission to leave for artistic freedom. With Kirov, her repertoire included the major roles in most of the best-known classics.

Tell It to Grandma

By Edith Macias

Hi Peoples!

If I can stop laughing long enough I'll try to tell you what is so funny. Just had a call from a nice lady in Lemon Grove (name withheld by request) who tells me she wouldn't say she drank a lot of beer but only that she drank beer a lot. There is a difference you know. Her little grandson, Mike, was over due for a nap so the grandma laid down on Mike's blanket to get him to lie down.

Knowing that he still got his bottle at nap-time she told him "Grandma go Nite-nite. Bring me the bottle, O.K.?" She wanted to see if the wee one would share his bottle. Apparently he would for he was taking it to her when he spotted her beer can on the coffee table and promptly put his bottle down and took grandma the can of beer.

The lady said, "There wasn't a soul in the house but me and the baby but I was so embarrassed!"

The Can Story

I can understand that easily for one of our little granddaughters wanted to take the aluminum cans to school for a recycling drive. Grandpa told her, "But you don't want to take beer cans to school!" She assured him that it was all right. Any kind of can would do.

So he reluctantly said she could take them but told her "Just don't tell everyone that Grandpa drank all that beer." She said, "I won't, grandpa. I'll tell them grandma drank it."

To which he gasped, "Oh no! That would be worse!" I told him that sounded so awful, I just might have to stop drinking entirely.

Meanwhile, out of the bars and back into the church.

A little guy in Santee said he liked the Sunday school song about doing the laundry. His mother asked him what song about the laundry, and he said, "You know, Mom... 'Bringing in the sheets!'" (Sheaves).

As a child, I had misbehaved (again) and Mother made me sit in the corner. I quickly asked if I could please get up and she angrily replied "No! Brighten the corner where you are!"

Fighting Irish

Be it fact or fiction, they say the Irish love to fight, and this Irishman said he really enjoyed going to our church because we sang the prettiest song there. Something about "Fight in the corner where you are"... Had to get that in quick because it will be 100% Christmas Carols from now until Christmas, and that is beautiful!

Direct quote (From Readers Digest, I think.) — "We know your children are a joy to behold, so please 'Beholding' on to them while you are in this store". I'll bet the clerks in Mayfair market, Casa de Oro, wished they'd had that sign up when someone's little imp (about nine years old) knocked the cigarette shelves down by the check-out counter. I never realized how many those things held. — Cigarettes all over the place! Had to close the line while they repaired the damage. I was waiting in that line and all I wanted was a pack of cigarettes. Of course, at that point I wanted to do what his mother should have done and didn't! (But even grandmas can't do that and get away with it.)

Happy Holiday Shopping! Grandma

P.S. — I'm a gossip by nature and if you write and tell me all these little cuties then everyone will know about it. O.K.? Ya know, it's a cryin' shame so many precious little things are said by our children and enjoyed by their parents or only by a few people near them, then dropped and forever lost, when they could bring so much enjoyment and laughter to us all. And in a world where laughter is so badly needed.

Like the word 'Cryin'; No, I didn't misspell it. My little grand-daughter (At two years old) said her baby brother was cryin'. My daughter insisted she was right. That Webster missed a good and useful word and it should be duly recorded and defined as "About half-way between 'Crying' and 'Whining'." And what mother hasn't heard an awful lot of 'cryin'? I quite agree with the mother. It should be a word! Of course I know a few other words you won't find in the dictionary, but that's O.K. too. (Bet some kid thought them up).

Call me at home — 465-0742 or write me c/o this newspaper.

You, too, can get your grandchild's name in print. Call Edith Macias at 465-0742 and tell her what the youngster said that was cute. The column is open to all relatives — even mom and pop.

Macias is a genuine grandma and a long time Spring Valley resident. Her grandmotherly style of writing should contribute to readers' interest in her column.

If you'd rather write, address her at this newspaper, P.O. Box 127, Lemon Grove, 92045.

Dear Santa:

Santa Claus asked us to save time for him by printing letters little ones from this community wrote. He's so busy making toys that he didn't have time to make the trip to pick the letters up.

As a subscriber to this paper, Santa sees these requests. He clips them out. And on Christmas morning, there it is, the gift the youngsters wanted — right under the tree... if the youngster was good.

Dear Santa:

I want for Christmas my sister to get well and an earthquake tower and a typewriter and a desk. My sister wants a bed for her dolls and I want a pool table.

Jimmy

Dear Santa:

My name is Rickey. I like you Santa because you bring me toys. My sister wants some dolls.

Dear Santa:

I want some toys but most of all I want a doll that crawls, some candy and some clothes and some coloring books.

For my sister I want some toys and clothes.

I will leave some cookies and milk for you. I've been a good girl. I love you Santa Claus.

'Guys And Dolls' Plays Three More Showings

The fast-moving and picturesque musical comedy "Guys and Dolls" will complete its six-show run this Thursday, Friday and Saturday with 8:30 p.m. performances in the theater of San Diego Community College at 14th and C streets in San Diego.

The play is presented by the United States International University's City Stage, an arm of its School of Performing and Visual Arts.

A cast of 40 act, sing and dance in a number of lavish production numbers, aided by a 16-piece orchestra and 13 voice chorus. Reservations can be made by contacting USIU City Stage Box Office.

Matrons, Patrons Meet

The Past Matrons and Patrons Association of San Diego County, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet Saturday at 6 p.m. for their annual Christmas Dinner and Party at The Fairmount Recreation Center (4077 Fairmont ave.).

Members are to bring either vegetables, salad or dessert and the association will furnish the turkey, and own table service. A Christmas gift exchange is planned and birthday members will be honored.

Retired Valley Man Enjoys Role as 'Instant Grandfather'

He chanced on a "letter to the editor" in the newspaper in September.

A girl in Korea wanted to correspond with someone in the U.S.

Bezaleel Beane, 67, and his wife, Betty Ann, of 3462 Par dr., Spring Valley, decided that the writer might need a grandfather.

Bezaleel, or Beanie as his host of friends call him, certainly qualified in looks and maturity. And what's more! was enjoying two retirements and had the time to be a grandfather. He had retired from the Navy in June 1955.

He had retired from the County Road Department in December 1968 after 13 years as the department's senior clerk.

So he wrote to little Jim Kyung Kong to tell her that he and Betty Ann had no children nor grandchildren — but had always wanted some.

He sent the girl a small amount of money to have her photograph taken to send him a copy. They exchanged pictures.

By November they were fast friends and it is likely the friendship will endure.

School Girl

Jim Kyung turned 17 in October. She attends school in Bukyung-eup, Samcheok-gum, Kangwom-do, Korea. With a name like that who needs a zip code number?

Jim Kyung's latest letter suggested that she would take to grand-daughterism as do most youngsters all over the world. Dated November 22, in a grand-daughterly way, she wrote in neat printed lettering:

"Dear Grandfather:

"Thank you very much for your kind letter and the nice picture of you. You are very nice looking. I am sending you my picture which I hope you will like."

"I would have answered sooner but I have been very busy with my homework and with tests."

"I told you a letter about myself in my first letter but something I have left out. So I have to tell you more about myself and my family.

My birthday is October 9, 1960

"What day is your birthday?"

Wants to Grow

"As I am short I hope that I shall grow a little taller."

"I have light brown hair, dark eyes and a fair complexion."

"Our school does not permit us to have long hair."

"I don't have faith in any religion."

"There are five people in my family — Grandmother, father, mother and brother. My father is engaged in business. My hobby is brooch, necklace collecting. I am enclosing some Korean stamps which have been issued recently"

"I must stop here for today. Please excuse me for writing such a brief letter. I'll be able to write more later. Please remember me to your family. If there are any questions you would like to ask, please ask me. I will be glad to tell you as long as I know.

Your loving grand-daughter
Jim Kyung

"PS: I have no experience to see foreigner's handwriting as I have learnt English at school with the printed textbook only. So I was very confused by your handwriting. I do hope you will print or use a typewriter when you write me."

J K"

Beane said he did not know the financial situation of the girl's family and said that his interest was in letter writing only.

He does not plan to offer financial support. It is likely that the family is well off, he said.

Has Time to Write

"I have time, since I retired, to do a lot of things, Beane said. I've studied words and their meanings since I was very young. I like to write. And now that I have time to write I find exchanging letters with my "granddaughter" a refreshing experience."

During the 13 years he served with the County Road Department, Beane was at the Murray Hills-Waite dr. station. When it was moved to a location at State 94 near the Sweetwater River bridge, Beane moved with it and served his final three years there.

Now that his working days are past, he intends to spend some of his time writing to his new "grand-daughter."

She's a fine little girl," he said.

HOW TO ENTER RETIREMENT FISCALLY FIT.

Shape up your future with H Bonds.

You see, Series H United States Savings Bonds are a good investment, because they don't just sit there. H Bonds bring an interest check right to your door twice a year!

And there's even a way to get an interest check every month. Just buy an H Bond a month for 6 straight months. That way you've got 120 checks in a row, guaranteed.

A financial exercise that's less taxing.

First, apply your accumulated E Bonds to the purchase of H Bonds. Then you don't pay tax on the E Bond interest until your H Bonds are redeemed, or reach maturity!

So, buy Series H United States Savings Bonds. And you'll stay in top fiscal shape when you retire.

Now the H Bond interest rate averages 6% per year when held to maturity of 10 years. Lost, stolen, or destroyed H Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. H Bonds are redeemable after six months, by application through your bank.

Take stock in America.

VFW Auxiliary Plans S.D. Veterans' Party

Members of Spring Valley Auxiliary No. 1512 and Lemon Grove Auxiliary No. 2082 will be among the 29 Auxiliaries of the First District, which comprise all of the communities of San Diego County, to hold a Christmas Party for the veterans at San Diego Veterans Hospital, La Jolla Village rd., in the multipurpose room at one p.m. Sunday. Members of each of the auxiliaries will bring refreshments for the party, and Santa will be on hand to present each veteran with a gift.

Greater Pressures On Women in Holidays

The Center for Women Studies and Services' Counseling Service will mark its fifth anniversary next Spring.

Attention is being drawn to the anniversary at this time, according to Sue Kirk, a CWSS Counseling coordinator, because the need for counseling for women is usually greater at Christmas time. Family stresses, often increased by visiting relatives and in-laws; pressure with children, and pressures of having to prepare holiday celebrations which includes gift-buying, often make this holiday a rough one, she said.

All women are welcome at the Center, located at 908 F st. in San Diego. The telephone is 233-8985.

Two Plays Staged at San Altos Tonight

The December meeting of the San Altos PTA, held tonight at 7:30 in the school auditorium, will feature the annual Christmas program.

Students from grades four through six will present two Christmas plays.

Workers' Comp. for Babysitters

Insurance. California is one of the first states to implement this recommendation of a national commission that proposed improvements in existing compensation laws.

Benefits For All Workers

Under the new provisions of the law, household employees are entitled to the same sort of benefits as other workers.

All reasonable medical care is provided; not just doctor bills but medicine, hospital costs, test and x-rays, crutches — in short, whatever is needed to cure the effects of an injury.

Rehabilitation services are also provided, as in cases where physical therapy is called for. In addition, employees receive a portion of their lost wages, up to a maximum set by the Legislature. If there is a permanent disability such as a finger amputation or loss of sight, additional payments are made.

Payments also will be made to surviving dependents in the event of a fatal injury.

Employers are held responsible under the law to provide these benefits, regardless of how short a period the worker has been employed. In recognition of this, the law provides that comprehensive personal liability insurance policies sold to home owners in the state will be automatically broadened on January 1 to provide insurance for these employee benefits.

Comprehensive personal liability insurance is part of any homeowner "package" policy, may be added as an endorsement to another policy, or may be purchased separately.

For Renters

Renters who have a tenant's "package" policy may have their policies broadened in a similar way, the Insurance Commissioner has ruled, but only if the insurance company is licensed to sell workers' compensation insurance in California.

All householders, the Committee urges, should check with their agent, broker or insurance company representative to be sure that they have the necessary coverage, since many people have just fire and theft insurance, for example. Whether or not residents are insured, the law still makes them liable for paying the legally prescribed benefits to injured employees. Most people will find the easiest way to handle this is by having appropriate insurance, the Committee reports.

The state's Insurance Commissioner has approved minimum rates for the additional compensation coverage. For most residents, who already buy one of the homeowners or renters "package" policies and who hire people to work around their home or yard only occasionally, the cost will most likely be the $5 minimum yearly charge set by the insurance commissioner.

People who employ regular household help — those who work ten hours or more a week, mostly outside the home, or other who work twenty hours or more a week, principally inside — should consult their agent, broker or insurance company representative.

Wants Written Certification

Householders who do not employ even an occasional babysitter, and who do not intend to, may refuse the automatic extension of workers' compensation coverage, but must certify in writing that they have no employees. Those who do, however, the Committee warns, still have the potential liability.

If they should hire someone later on and the worker is injured, the employer must pay the expenses of the compensation claim, all fines levied by the state and the total costs of any court suit.

Injured workers need only report any injury to their employers immediately, and it is the employer's responsibility to report the injury to the California Division of Industrial Accidents. Employers with insurance will find that their insurance company representative has the necessary forms and can provide help in completing and filing them, according to the Committee.

OSUT is a 13-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

Students received instruction in the use of various kinds of weapons, maintenance of armor vehicles, map reading, communications, artillery adjustments, and mines and demolitions.

Parking Costs $500

Marvin Leonard Champion of 7662 Broadway, Lemon Grove, parked in beautiful downtown San Diego for less than 15 minutes on December 1 — but the stop was costly. When he returned to his vehicle, tools he valued at $500 were missing. Taken was a grinder, a 50-ft. tape and a Skilaw. So was the Sportsman tool box containing the tools.

Cops-Griffins Games To Aid Young Athletes

For the first time in Grossmont College basketball history, Griffins will host their own 18-team tournament. Beginning today and running through Saturday, the inaugural Cops-Grossmont College Invitational Basketball Tournament will be held. The El Cajon Police Department is sponsoring the tournament with proceeds going to youth activities funds.

Four games are scheduled for today and Friday and three are on tap for Saturday. The action begins at 3 p.m. on each of the first two days, while contests are slated for 4:30 p.m., 6:30 and 8:30 on Saturday.

Teams from Moorpark, L.A. Pierce, Oxnard, Imperial Valley, College of the Desert, Chaffey, San Diego City and Grossmont will take part in the tournament.

The opening night pairings are: Oxnard vs. SDCC, 3 p.m.; CCOD vs. Chaffey, 4:45 p.m.; IVS vs. Pierce, 6:40 p.m.; and Grossmont vs. Moorpark, 8:30 p.m.

In action last week involving the Griffins, coach Felix Rogers' cagers won two of three games in the Citrus Tournament to finish second in the eight-team affair. The Griffins got by East Los Angeles, 74-61, and Citrus, 70-65, before losing to Cypress, 78-74, in Saturday's finals.

Grossmont took a 4-2 record into Monday's nonconference contest at El Camino.

Tarkanian's Rebels Here For Aztec Game Saturday

Highly rated Nevada (Las Vegas) brings its Runn' Rebels basketball team to the San Diego Sports Arena for an 8 p.m. date with S.D. State U. Saturday.

Las Vegas figures to be one of the top teams to come to San Diego this year. The Runn' Rebels started the week at 3-0 for the season.

The Rebels were rated sixth in the nation on the wire service polls last week and should move up after beating Oregon 78-67 and belting Iowa State 115-80. The Rebels are used to scoring 100 points in a game, hitting the century mark 23 times last year in racking up a 29-2 record. Their 78 point total against Oregon was lower than any Rebel score all last season.

Coach Jerry Tarkanian figures to send Robert Smith and Sam Smith at the Aztecs at guards, 6-9 Larry Moffett and center with 6-6 Glen Gondrezick and 6-7 Eddie Owens at forwards. Gondrezick averaged 14.0 points last year, Owens 23.4, Robert Smith 8.8 and Sam Smith 16.6.

The Aztecs come into this week's action after suffering two losses in the Sun Devil Classic in Tempe, Arizona last week. Arizona State belted a listless Aztec team 86-65 and Wichita State stopped San Diego State, 75-62.

Forward Will Connelly was the only Aztec bright spot in the two games as he scored 26 points against Arizona State and 15 against Wichita State. His status is doubtful, however, as he sprained an ankle against the Shockers of Wichita and was on crutches after the game.

SuperMex Back On Coliseum Mat

Mil Mascaras, the Mexican Superstar, who easily beat Dr. Hiro Ota in the Tuesday night edition of professional wrestling at the S.D. Coliseum, will return next week to do battle with Ken Mantell, of Dallas.

The match, a Mexican Death Match, allows no disqualifications, no time limit, and no referee inside the ring. Such matches are generally wild.

In an American Title Tag Team match, Roddy Piper and The Hangman square off against Chavo Guerrero and Butcher Vachon.

A newcomer, Roger "The Axe" Hennig meets Carlos Matta. Dr. Hiro Ota goes against Larry Zybysko, and finally, The Scorpion fights Mr. California.

Action commences at 7:30 p.m.

The Coliseum will be dark for three Tuesdays during the holidays although there is a possibility of a fight card during the week of December 27. Pro wrestling starts again on January 4, according to Danny Millsap, fight promoter.

Ray Floyd Signs For AWSO Open

Ray Floyd, Masters Champion and seventh on the U. S. tour in earnings this year, is officially entered in the tenth annual Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament at Torrey Pines golf course January 26-30.

The 34-year-old Floyd, who has finished in the top 60 money winners 12 out of his 14 seasons on the tour, had his greatest year in 1976, winning the Masters by a sensational eight-stroke margin and capturing the World Open at Pinehurst, North Carolina.

Floyd has a total of eight career wins including the 1969 PGA Championships. He won $178,318 in 1976, boosting his lifetime U. S. tour earnings to $875,906.

The North Carolina native, who now lives in Miami, made Rookie of the Year in 1963 when he won the St. Petersburg Open. Floyd reached a pinnacle in 1969 with three tour wins and an eight place in earnings, but he was not to win again until 1975 and finished out of the top 60 in 1972 and 1973. He credits his resurgence from 1974 on to newly acquired family responsibilities.

Floyd tied for first in the AWSO in 1975 with J. C. Snead and Bobby Nichols, then lost to Snead in the playoff. He was third in 1968, tied for ninth in 1969 and for 11th in 1974. His $35,559 in AWSO earnings from seven finishes in the money is exceeded only by Gene Littler among non-winners of the event.

Tickets for the AWSO are available locally at the Lemon Grove and Spring Valley branches of the Bank of America, Crocker Bank and the S.D. Trust and Savings.

Home Fed No. 50

SAN DIEGO — Approval for the fiftieth office of Home Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of San Diego was granted Friday by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board of San Francisco, Home Federal President Kim Fletcher announced Monday.

The new office will be located in Del Mar's Flower Hill Shopping Center. It is scheduled to open by the beginning of 1977. The Del Mar office approval brings to 28 the number of Home Federal locations in San Diego County.

"Home Federal has gotten approval for four new offices in the last 60 days," Fletcher reported.

The other three were an El Cajon satellite office located in Parkway Plaza Village, and one each in Escondido and Glendale.

Home Federal is the seventh largest savings and loan association in the nation with $2.2 billion in assets.

Highway Bids Sought

California Department of Transportation is calling for bids on seven highway projects, including one estimated $320,000 job on Highway 805 in San Diego.

Bids open January 6 in Los Angeles on the San Diego project. Work entails construction of a median barrier along 2.5 miles of freeway between Otay Valley Road and Telegraph Canyon Road in Chula Vista.

Christmas Musical

"God's Gift of Love", a Christmas musical by Harold de Cou, will be performed at the Spring Valley Church of the Nazarene, 3310 Bancroft dr., on Sunday at 6 p.m.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

It's the biggest thing since the invention of the Red Light district. It's called "skateboarding," and my goodness, how the monster has grown.

No longer will the cry "Surf's Down" tumble down mouth corners on the usually smiling breaker-tamers of San Diego's surfing set.

No longer will naked slopes bring anguish, anger, or alarm to southland snow bunnies or their handlers in mid-Santa Ana.

They gave their promise. Surfers vow to head east and snow-folks promised to come out of the mountains for the excellent dry land practice now rated almost, if not, the equal of ridin' waves and subduing ski runs.

The biggest, most modern and most functional skate-board park in all captivity will open its runs to hot wheelin' citizens of all ages in late January when National Skate Parks, Inc. opens its first skate 'n fun facility in the friendly city of El Cajon.

More than two acres of skating, dating, and recreation will welcome all levels of skateboarders and roller demons to challenges that range all the way from tender trips for uncertain beginners to feisty frolicin' for the proven pro.

National Skate Parks of El Cajon is the first of more than one hundred free wheelin' fun centers in existence, in construction or in planning stages by the San Diego based corporation.

And, in addition to flat, curved, sloped and slalom skating challenges, Skate Parks comes completely equipped with pro shops, food stops, game drops and rent props.

"Safety is the key word in our operation," insisted Bruce Russell, the youthful president of National Skate Parks, Inc. "Each skater will be required to wear shoes, a helmet, gloves and pads on both knees and elbows. If they don't have the equipment, we'll rent it to them. But before a single wheel rolls, protective gear is going to be laced in place. We're making that mandatory."

Russell got the idea for skateboard park development from a pair of undeniable facts. The overwhelming growth in popularity of the sport, which seems to be hitting a pace equal to the race for space, and the obvious need for suitable safe skating facilities.

"You can drive around almost any neighborhood and you find a ton of skateboarders chugging along around parked cars, bicycles; everything from standing pedestrians to moving traffic," Russell explained. "It's fun, but it's dangerous as hell. Mostly, skateboarding in the street is a high speed accident looking for a place to happen."

But the man has faith in the doing of the thing. Russell expects skateboarding to develop into Olympic competition and not without sound logic behind his reason.

The movement of skateboarding is exciting. It's fully capable of being crafted into art form, complete with all the grace and beauty of a Bolshoi ballet.

And the movement is international. The same skills inherent in subduing a giant breaker in the raging sea off Lailua Bay on the windward side of Oahu are essential in commanding control of a two and a half foot dreadnaught directed through the oceans of cement surfaces faced in all high level skateboard competitions.

Successful skateboarding is no less a challenge than that faced by those skillful skiers who chose to swoop the sides of the Alps, the Andes, or the Pyrenees.

"That's what makes our parks so essential," says Russell. "The sport is a natural. It's going and growing at phenomenal speed. That's why we started with plans for a minimum of 100 parks. That's why we began with the principal of basic local capitalization. Not only to maintain the interest of local ownership, but to maintain the sort of you-and-me relationship and the input of ideas local ownership insures."

Currently Skate Parks are planned for Spring Valley/Lemon Grove, beach and mesa top. Face it, Skateboarding is an idea whose time has come.

AAU Swim Team Forming For Valley Area Youths

An AAU competitive swimming team is forming in the Spring Valley area, it was announced this week by Mike Smith, physical education instructor at Bancroft Elementary School, Spring Valley.

Smith is organizing a local AAU chapter for Spring Valley and vicinity swimmers who will compete with other chapters beginning January 5.

Teams are now forming in four age groups: 10 and under, 11-12, 13-14 and 15-17.

Each group is subdivided into four experience classes from beginner to senior. Class placement will be determined by performance times in various events.

"Although we do have a 'beginners' class, swimmers should have some swimming background," said Smith. "This is not a learn-to-swim thing."

Smith said he is seeking members from the Spring Valley area, but no one from outside the area will be turned away.

Competitive meets within the Pacific Southwest Assn. will be held every weekend beginning in January.

Practice will be held every weekday evening at one of the neighborhood Grossmont Union High School District pools, probably Valhalla, says Smith.

Most meets will be within the county with possible championship meets in the Los Angeles area.

Aside from swimmers, other needs are a parents booster club and team sponsors, Smith said.

There is no limit to the number of swimmers on the team. Similar teams in La Mesa and El Cajon involve more than 300 youths, Smith said.

Those interested in joining the team are asked to call 464-3489 or 462-8656 evenings.

9 Olympians Make S. Coast Conference

Freshman Steve Fairchild, a Mesa College football player, was named first-team quarterback and offensive player of the South Coast Conference at the All-Conference meeting recently.

Four other Olympians were first team picks.

They are: wide receiver Jerome Young, tailback Chuck Benbow, offensive tackle Randy Kocher and freshman outside linebacker Kevin Moody.

Second team selections are: defensive tackle Terry Brewer, linebacker Jerry Wagner, defensive back Roland Copeland and wide receiver Barry Harris.

The Olympian coaching staff had nine nominations and all nine athletes made first or second team.

$150,000 For Kathy Crosby Golf Tourney

A Bing Crosby-type golf tourney for women with more than $150,000 in prizes, is being scheduled for March at Whispering Palms golf course, just east of Del Mar race track.

Why will it be Crosby-ish? Because it is being directed by Bing's wife, Katherine.

The tourney is sponsored by American Honda Motor Co. and the unusually generous purse puts the Katherine Crosby among the top three largest women tourneys ever offered.

The four day-72 hole event will draw at least 100 pros and about 50 of the nation's most celebrated entertainers. Part of the tourney, naturally, will be pro-am. The size of the purse assures all the top women players available. The largest event of the kind is the Colgate $300,000 held this year.

Whispering Palms is reached by going north on US5. When the Del Mar Fair Grounds comes into view, take the Via de la Valle east to Whispering Palms.

Travis Hitt Wins Aztec's MVP Award

Travis Hitt, San Diego Aztec linebacker, was winner of San Diego State's Most Valuable Player award at the university's Football Awards Banquet last week on Wednesday at the Hilton Inn. Approximately 300 persons attended.

Defensive back Herman Edwards was named the most inspirational player. Earlier in the day he had been named to UPI's all-star, all-coast team.

Other winners: Tom Craft, offensive captain; Jim Hitt, defensive captain; Terry Donovan, special teams; Dave Johnson, and Mike Solari offensive linemen, and Ed Imo, defensive lineman.

Hostetler Griffis MVP

Sophomore linebacker Jay Hostetler has been voted the most valuable player on the 1976 Grossmont College football team by his teammates.

In addition, Hostetler also earned tackler of the year laurels, the most inspirational defensive player award, and shared the most valuable defensive player trophy with sophomore safety Terry Hankslik.

Sophomore wide receiver Kerry Schimpf and freshman guard Scot Buckles shared the most valuable offensive player award. Schimpf also claimed the most inspirational offensive player honor.

'GOLDEN' MIKE SMITH — Sports Director for 39 Newsalive, has won his second "Golden Mike" award during ceremonies Thursday night at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel in Los Angeles.

The Radio & Television News Assn. of Southern California presented Mike with the award for the Best Sports Show in Southern California, sharing the honor with Ross Porter of KNBC Los Angeles.

The winning entry included a special filmed report with Ken Norton at Gillman Hot Springs; a filmed report from Bowling Green, Ohio, with reporter Greg Wyatt; football highlights between Kearny and Morse; a special report on Tom Hayes of the Chargers; plus a San Diego Mariners report and sports scores.

Chargers Wrap-up Season at Oakland

The Chargers attempt to end an upbeat season on a high note Sunday when they challenge the Oakland Raiders at the Oakland Coliseum.

Kickoff is 1 p.m.

Be defeating the San Francisco 49ers in overtime last Sunday, the Chargers achieved their sixth victory — most by the club since 1971.

An upset victory over the Raiders would give the Chargers a record of 7-7.

San Diego was 2-12 in 1975. Champions of the AFC West for the fifth successive year, Oakland has the NFL's best record of 12-1 after defeating the Cincinnati Bengals 35-20 Monday night.

The game will be televised on ch. 10 locally by NBC. Hope Hines broadcasts the game on KSDO (1130) with Tommy Mason doing the color. Recommendation: tv for picture, Hines and Mason for sound. The team is outstanding.

The Merc.

Last week Mercury Morris climaxed a 93-yard, 9-play drive with a 13-yard end run at 5:12 of overtime to give the Chargers a 13-7 win over the San Francisco 49ers at San Diego Stadium.

The game was scoreless until 9:58 of the fourth quarter. The Chargers took the lead on a two-yard run by Bo Motrise. The 49ers came back thw after an 80-yard 16-play to tie the score at 13-13 on a 13-yard pass from Scott Bull to Paul Hofer.

Rickey Young led the Chargers in rushing with 78 yards and a 5.6 average and receiving with five pass-s for 62 yards. He ranks in the AFC top 10 in both categories with season's total of 727 yards and a 4.9 average rushing and 4 catches for 426 yards receiving.

Clint Longley made his first quarterback start and completed 3 of 7 passes for 30 yards in the first half. Dan Fouts took over and sparked the victory with 9 of 14 for 99 yards.

The Chargers awarded game balls to Young, guard Doug Wilkerson, defensive end Fred Dean and punter Jeff West.

"It was a good hard fought game all the way. I'm glad to win a close game. It means happiness instead of depression," coach Tommy Prothro said.

Dean Plays Hurt

Fred Dean received a game ball against the 49ers and also deserved a medal for bravery. Despite a painful groin injury, he played most of the game and made eight tackles and one quarterback sack.

"It was a gutsy performance," said defensive line coach Rudy Feldman. "I didn't plan to play him in the second half, but we had to and he performed well."

Said Dean, "I'm always ready to play. In this league you have to play hurt."

Charger cornerback Mike Williams has the unenviable job of defending against Oakland's swift receiver Cliff Branch Sunday.

"I'll be ready," said Williams. "I've been thinking about him since our first game." In that game, Branch caught five passes for 167 yards and two touchdowns.

Williams has played well in 1976. Last Sunday, he limited San Francisco's Gene Washington to one catch and made his fourth interception. He also had four interceptions as a rookie in 1975.

Overtime Firsts

Since overtime was introduced into the NFL in 1974, San Diego last Sunday became the first team to take the kickoff and score without surrendering the football.

It was also the Chargers' first NFL overtime victory after two extra-period losses in 1975.

San Diego had the distinction of playing the first overtime game. It was in preseason of 1974 and the Chargers beat the New York Jets, 20-14.

Wide receiver Charlie Joiner was named Most Valuable Player of the 1976 Chargers by his teammates. He has caught 49 passes for 1,044 yards, a 21.3 average and seven touchdowns.

Guard Doug Wilkerson was selected Most Outstanding Lineman for the third successive year. Middle linebacker Tom Graham received the Emil Karas Memorial plaque as the team's Most Inspirational Player.

Tax relief when you need it! Retirement as you like it!

With an Individual Retirement Account (IRA)

If you're employed, but have no retirement plan, a tax-deferred Home Federal IRA is perfect.

You can deposit up to $1500 a year (or 15% of wages—whichever is less) and deduct it from your income on your Federal and State tax return. And you pay no taxes on the interest it earns until withdrawn.

Or, if you've left a company with cash from stock, profit sharing, or retirement plan, you can avoid current taxes by opening an IRA within 60 days of receipt.

Of course, at Home Federal, your savings are insured to $40,000. The chart below shows you how fast your money multiplies at Home Federal.

You pay no tax on principal or interest until you retire (at age 59½ or older), when you will probably be in a reduced tax bracket.

For more details on cutting taxes and happier retirement, call or visit your nearest office of Home Federal.

Account must be opened and contributed to by December 31.

If you are self-employed, we can help you build for retirement by opening a Keogh Account.

Annual Deposit*	Total Deposited	Interest Earned	Account Total
6	$ 9,000	$ 2,907.71	$ 11,907.71

PTA Counters Negative Comments

Dear Editor,

We, of the Monterey Heights PTA board wish the record to show we feel our teachers are, in general, the very finest educators. And yet not just "educators", they give of themselves to our children. They give love and concern, extra time and even spend their own money for things not provided for in the budget.

Those of us who also participate in the classroom volunteer program (and there are over 50 parents who do so on a weekly basis) believe our teachers adhere to the prescribed curriculum, teaching our children according to district and state requirements.

We were saddened by the remarks about our principal. He has always been very supportive of both the PTA and the volunteer program. He generates a warmth and friendship in our school that we appreciate.

Rejects Criticism of Mont. Heights School

Dear Editor,

Chuck Pennell's reports of the comments he got from local residents during his unsuccessful bid for the school board election are interesting.

I was one of those he did not talk to and his report does not line up with my beliefs... expressly those comments which seem to be derogatory about the Monterey Heights school, the principal and the teachers.

Mr. (E) Myers is a splendid principal and his work is outstanding. I have been around school enough to note the respect students pay him. I know they love him, too, because he cares about them personally. Additionally, the one time I had a problem it got immediate action from Mr. Myers.

I served as aid in my child's classroom last year and I can testify that my child had an excellent teacher. She was always doing extra things that only a dedicated teacher would do. I feel the same way about my child's teacher this year, too.

Thanks for letting me offer my opinion.

School's Image Is Parents' Concern

Dear Editor,

Recent publicity has created concern among the parents of the Monterey Heights Elementary School students. We wish to express our feelings as parents familiar with the school.

There are problems at Monterey Heights, as there are in all organizations, but corrective action is being taken. There are highly competent and concerned educators on the faculty.

A great deal of parent interest is being shown in the parent volunteer program with an average of 230 hours of volunteer work being given each month. Fathers as well as

School Plans Song, Dance

Christmas song and dance will fill the Mt. Miguel High School gymnasium on more than one occasion in coming days.

The school's Vocal and Instrumental Music Departments will present their annual Christmas Concert Wednesday, December 15 beginning at 7:30 p.m. The combined orchestra and entire vocal music department will be featured in a piece called "The Many Moods of Christmas" along with numbers by the orchestra, Girls' Glee, Ensemble and Concert Choir.

The Girls' Chorus will host a district Christmas Festival tonight with neighboring high schools, 7 p.m. Parents are invited to listen.

Friday night, the school's Key Club hosts a dance following the basketball game. Pre-sale tickets are $1, $1.25 with ASB card. At the door tickets are $1.50. "Devotion" is the band. Proceeds go to the Kip Hayes Fund.

Rose Favored

Most Americans prefer the rose as the National Flower, the Florist Telegraph Delivery reported after a survey was made among florists.

mothers are participating as volunteers in the classrooms.

With confidence in a continuing improvement in Monterey Heights Elementary School, we remain interested and concerned parents.

Notes Swine Flu Clinics' Success

Dear Editor,

Thank you for your support! Media coverage before and during the mass immunization clinic phase of our swine flu campaign contributed immeasurably to its success.

Over 120,000 San Diegans received a flu shot during the 16-day effort; thousands more are expected to attend our regularly scheduled immunization clinics. A response of this magnitude could not have been possible without extensive, continuous publicity.

As noted above, residents may be immunized at one of our public health centers. The hours of our afternoon clinics have been extended until 7 p.m. to accommodate persons who work during the day. Everyone 18 years of age and over, as well as children from six months to 18 years who suffer from a chronic disease, are eligible. There is no charge. In conjunction with this continuing effort, our swine flu information service, 236-2227, will remain in operation.

Thank you again for your tremendous support during this massive public health program.

Sincerely,
John R. Philp, M.D.
Director of Public Health

Travelers Wanted for Old Baja Mission Tour

Thirteen participants are being sought by Grossmont College to tour the old missions of Baja California in a wilderness land study trip.

The unique education opportunity makes it possible to study the missions and natural history of the Baja peninsula through actual visits rather than text books.

The tour, scheduled for nine days in January, costs $392 and includes hotel accommodations, although most overnight camps will be in remote and isolated areas along the old mission trail.

The event is offered by Grossmont College's Office of Community Education and is open to the community.

Officer Named at Campo-Conrad BoA

Frank E. Hartman has been appointed operations officer of Bank of America's Campo-Conrad branch in Spring Valley.

Hartman joined BofA in 1970 as an operations trainee at Campo-Conrad. Since then he has served in operations posts of increasing responsibility at the bank's La Mesa, Fletcher Hills, Chula Vista, Mission Valley, National City and Highland-13th branches.

A native of San Diego, Hartman attended El Cajon Valley High School. He has taken banking-related courses at Grossmont College.

The Hartman family lives in La Mesa.

State Ups Care Center Medi-Cal Money Due To Min. Wage Hike

Medi-Cal benefits paid by the State Department of Health to nursing homes and intermediate care facilities were increased this month to reduce the impact of California's new minimum wage.

Acting under emergency regulations, the Department of Health allocated additional money to meet payrolls at the state's nursing home and intermediate care facilities.

Many employees at such facilities draw the state minimum wage. Rate increases are just big enough to offset California's new minimum wage and too small to increase facility profits, according to State Health Director Jerome A. Lackner.

Minimum wage in the state of California recently rose from $2.30 to $2.50 an hour.

The increase in Medical payments to the care centers also allows for an average 28-cent an hour increase to employees who were making $2.50 an hour or more before the new minimum wage.

Lackner said failure to raise rates would have resulted in a "substantial reduction" in the number of facilities willing to accept Medi-Cal patients. The rate increases affect 75,000 employees.

Rates depend to a degree upon the size of the facility.

Smaller facilities received slightly higher rates because of a higher ratio of employees to patients.

Nursing homes are paid slightly higher rates than intermediate care facilities because their staffs must include a larger percentage of registered nurses and similar health professionals.

Nursing homes with less than 60 beds went from $23.28 to $24.18 a patient day. Those with 60 to 99 beds went from $21.44 to $22.34 and those with 100 or more beds from $20.51 to $21.41.

Intermediate care facilities with less than 60 beds went from $18.35 to $19.07 per patient day, those with 60 to 99 beds from $16.98 to $17.70 and those with 100 or more beds from $16.27 to $16.99.

Employment, Unemployment Both Decline

First, the good news from California's Employment Development Department: the number of persons without jobs in the state was lower in October than at anytime in the past 22 months.

On the gloomier side of the employment picture, the state's unemployment rate edged up from 9.7 per cent in September to 9.8 per cent last month.

Confusing as it may seem, EDD reports both employment and unemployment declined between September and October, but the reduction in unemployment was not as great as seasonally expected. Thus, the unemployment rate, which is seasonally-adjusted, went up.

Total employment was more than 8.7 million in October, down by nearly 57,000 from September. A 62,000-plus dip in farm employment accounts for the net reduction, state officials say. Nonagricultural employment rose by 18,500 in the one month span.

Unemployment declined by 2,700 persons to about 833,000 in October, records indicate. This was the lowest total since the state's jobless number stood at 748,000 in December, 1974. Last year, 882,000 persons or 10.4 per cent of workers, were unemployed in October.

In the week ending October 22, 613,000 unemployed individuals in California claimed jobless benefits under one of several state programs. This compares with 647,000 in the same week a year ago, in October 1975.

Bigger VA Pensions Due in '77

A 7 per cent increase in monthly benefit rates for Veterans Administration pensioners, plus increases in the annual income limits on which the pensions are based, become effective January 1.

The pension changes were approved by the President on September 30.

Affected are about a million veterans and 1.6 million veterans' survivors receiving VA pensions. The increases are estimated to cost $432 million in fiscal year 1977.

Income limitations were raised as follows: To $3,540 for veterans or surviving spouses without dependents and to $4,760 for those with dependents under the current program; to $3,100 and $4,460 for those under the prior pension law. For parents under the dependency and indemnity compensation program, the limits were raised to $3,540 for a single parent and $4,760 for parents living together or with a spouse.

Limitation Increased
The maximum unearned limitation for children entitled under the current pension program was increased by $190 to $2,890.

A significant addition in the new law provides for a 25 per cent added differential to all pension rates for eligible veterans who are 78 years of age or older. Primary beneficiaries of this provision are some 318,000 World War I veterans whose average age is 80.

Aid and attendance rates for veterans on the pension rolls were increased by $22 to $155 and the household rate by $4 to $57. For surviving spouses on the pension rolls, parents receiving DIC payments and surviving spouses receiving death compensation, the aid and attendance rate was increased to $74.

Re-Instated
Another new provision permits payments of a reduced and attendance monthly allowance to eligible veterans whose pension payments are denied or terminated because annual income exceeded the statutory limitation by less than $500.

Pensions are paid to wartime veterans who are totally disabled from non-service-connected causes if they are disabled before age 65 and come within income limits. After age 65, only income is taken into account.

Pension payments to widows of wartime veterans are determined by income limitations.

Christmas Decorations Can Be 'Berry' Poisonous

Deck the hall with boughs of holly . . . but don't eat the berries.

This message comes from the Poison Information Center, University Hospital in San Diego, and is one of several suggestions the Center is making to insure a non-toxic religious holiday season.

The infamous and much-maligned poinsettia plant, for years cast as the ultimate in poisonous Christmas plants, is ready to relinquish its position. "While excessive contact with, or ingestion of, the sap from the poinsettia may cause some skin irritation or intestinal discomfort, its reputation for causing fatalities has been vastly exaggerated," said Cindy Ward, RN, of the Poison Information Center.

"The real culprits are holly and mistletoe berries." A child or a house pet who eats only one or two berries could develop serious intestinal disorders. Eating a sufficient number of the berries, particularly mistletoe, could prove fatal, according to Ward.

Although it may sound absurd that anyone might be interested in eating tinsel, the paint off a Christmas ornament, or in drinking the water in a Christmas-tree stand, Ward pointed out that small children and household pets do not seem reluctant to eat unusual substances and the Christmas season provides them a whole new set of items to try.

The Center suggests caution with the following:

- Tinsel which has been manufactured prior to 1972. It contains lead and should be

Burgers Are Beefing Up Nation's Cattle Industry

The hamburger is closing the market on beef.

Ground beef is expected to make up about 40 per cent of the total beef consumed by all Americans this year.

Based on 1976 projections of 128 pounds per capita beef consumption, this represents more than 51 pounds of hamburger for every man, woman and child.

Hamburgers, which supposedly had their birth in Hamburg, Germany, have even replaced the venerable hot dog by three to one as Americans will eat 50 million burgers this year. The greatest increase in hamburger consumption has been observed in just the last four years.

Ground beef consumption has shot upward 23 per cent since 1972 when only 17 per cent of beef consumption was ground beef. Two underlying reasons explain this stampede to the hamburger stands. Convenience underscores the motive of the consumer and necessity is the byword of cattle producers.

In terms of convenience, Americans' eating habits have changed in accord with their fast-paced life styles. The need and desire for nutritious, fast and easy-to-prepare meals has established ground beef as a basis for meal planning. Additionally, it is estimated that 43 per cent of the beef consumed is eaten away from home and more than half of that is ground beef.

Cattle producers feel fortunate that ground beef demands coincided with rising feed grain costs, operating costs, drought and other factors that are making cattle finishing unprofitable.

They have found an eager market for their cows and other non-grain fed stock. It has been estimated that the three leading U.S. hamburger chains alone served the equivalent of two million head of cattle in 1975.

The hamburger business has helped to alleviate much of the surplus cattle inventories experienced by cattlemen since mid-1975.

Split Loyalty May Weaken Press

By Herb Berkowitz

(Berkowitz, a member of the journalism society, is director of public relations for the National Right to Work Committee, and a frequent contributor to newspapers and magazines across the country.)

Freedom of the press, it has often been argued, really belongs only to those who own the presses. Interesting, but it appears more accurate to say freedom of the press may soon belong to another class of citizens — only those who own union cards.

That's the major story coming out of the 67th annual convention of Sigma Delta Chi, the so-called Society of Professional Journalists.

Several months prior to the group's recent Los Angeles meeting, some 400 professional journalists, including reporters, editors, columnists, radio and television broadcasters, and publishers, affixed their signatures to a resolution saying, in effect, that "no journalist should be required to contribute either his loyalty or his money to any private organization in order to fulfill his (her) First Amendment rights and professional obligations." The resolution was offered as a direct response to the growing incidence of compulsory unionism in the news business, a threat which the journalism organization seems reluctant to acknowledge.

Independence Needed

The news people who co-sponsored the resolution, among them Eric Sevareid of CBS News, columnist James J. Kilpatrick, Oliver Jensen, senior editor of American Heritage Magazine, Pulitzer Prize winning cartoonist Jeff MacNelly, and more than 350 others, suggested as a solution "that journalists should not be required to join or support any labor, fraternal, professional or any other private organization in order to report or interpret the news."

The recommendation was tabled with a minimum of debate. The official powers in the organization labeled the proposal "divisive," and that was enough to scare the aggressive journalism professionals away from further discussion. (The by-laws discourage SDX involvement in such matters, we were also told.)

27,000 Members

What makes this most unfortunate is that simultaneous to the non-discussion of the issue, the AFL-CIO Newspaper Guild was running an advertisement in the convention program bragging about the fact that 27,000 journalists (that's right, twenty-seven thousand!) on newspapers, magazines, and news services "work under contracts requiring them to join the Guild or maintain their membership in it" as a condition of further employment. Anyone who dares stop, for whatever reason, no longer works as a journalist.

That 27,000 does not include the thousands of others who work for the broadcast media and are forced to join the radio and TV union in order to continue enjoying their rights.

1st Amendment Forgotten

It's unfortunate, and more than a little scary, that the one group that should be most concerned about even the slightest threat to press freedom is so intimidated by the thought of being "divisive" that they are willing to forego defending the First Amendment. Because sooner than they think, the presses will indeed, as they will soon in Great Britain, belong only to those with union cards. And it will be too late for all of us.

The Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, has done its profession, and the American people a serious disservice.

As one member of the organization put it, "It's not that union officials can tell us what to write. But if they can determine not what we write, but whether we will be allowed to write at all, that's the ultimate threat to press freedom."

Booklet Outlines Cost-Saving Tips For Telephone Subscribers

Revised booklets aimed at helping consumers save money on their phone bills are now available in both English and Spanish at local Pacific

Telephone business offices.

The new edition of "Your Phone Service: What You Don't Know Can Cost You" reflects certain changes in service charges made since the booklet was first issued nearly two years ago.

The decision to print the 12-page booklet in Spanish was based on a PacTel customer survey conducted last year.

"The survey showed us 58 per cent of the respondents wanted information on how they could cut their phone costs and since some of our customers speak only Spanish, we felt we should meet their needs, too," declared Helen Speratos, PacTel's local manager.

The English and Spanish versions are nearly identical, according to Mrs. Speratos.

Mrs. Speratos said that the publication is filled with all kinds of helpful information, some of which probably isn't known by many people who use the phone regularly.

Not only does it touch on money-saving calling tips, such as a listing of special holidays when lower long distance rates prevail, but also includes hints on cutting costs when ordering telephone service.

One section is devoted to an explanation of why it's thrifty to plan ahead for telephone needs, while another deals with how customers obtain credit on bills for bad connections, mis-dialed numbers and out-of-order phones.

Another portion, she continued tells what steps to take when harassed by obscene callers.

The local business office serving the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area is at 5500 Grossmont Center drive, La Mesa.

Warren Speaker on Downtown Rehab

Gerald L. Warren, editor of the San Diego Union, will speak Friday at Focal Point, the S.D. Chamber of Commerce public meeting series.

Focal Point will be held on the 22nd floor of Central Federal Tower at Second and Broadway, downtown, from noon to 1 p.m.

Warren will discuss his newspaper's recent eight-part series on San Diego's economic climate and steps he feels the community must take. He also will discuss the Union's changing philosophy of political endorsements and the paper's role in the community.

Focal Point is open to the public at no charge. Guests are asked to provide their own lunches. Complimentary coffee is served. Persons planning to attend are asked to make reservations by calling 232-0124, ext. 56, so adequate seating can be arranged.

Scouts Clean Up Railroad Plaza

A future Eagle Scout will get his award in February for the project he undertook in Lemon Grove in November.

Tom Guest, son of Lemon Grove's Crocker Bank manager, Bob Guest, set his project to be the cleanup of the plaza. It needed it.

Tom, and his aides, took loads of weeds, cans, papers, beer cans and whiskey bottles from the railroad right-of-way in their month-long of week-ends of labor. They cleaned the 2-block long section from Broadway north to the Lemon Grove ave-94 ramps.

He got some help. Jim's U-Rent donated a commercial-type weed mower and Thomas Disposal provided huge containers for the weeds and trash without charge.

Members of his Scout Troop 950 took part in the cleanup. Scouts taking part were: Matthew Barisis, Tom Dorman, Chip and Steve Eckles, Kris Frank and Brent Jenkins.

Also: Mark Kiczynski, Jon Lang, Dan Svensson, John Thorburg and Arthur Wicks. The L.G. Business Women's League sponsors the upkeep of the section of the plaza on which the historic lemon stands. The work is paid for by donations of various business firms.

Tom needed only the civic project to be eligible for the Eagle Award. He has the other merit badges required.

The Eagle Scout award will be made at a ceremony at the Fletcher Hills Presbyterian church — the date has not been announced.

Grading Begun on Avocado Village

Grading started this week for Rancho San Diego's newest community, Avocado Village, located at the intersection of Highway 94 and Avocado blvd. adjacent to the Mt. Helix and Casa de Oro areas.

Avocado Village valued at $9 million improved, includes 38 acres of commercial area; and 16 acres of residential professional, according to Frank R. Parks, general manager of Rancho San Diego Land Company, the developer of the 4,620-acre master-planned ranch located in the Jamacha Valley.

Parks said the residential acreage will include approximately 260 lots which have already been committed to individual developers. Work is expected to get under way on the homes early next summer, upon completion of streets and all underground utilities.
